But according to the Standing Orders of the Mysore Imperial Service Lancers Part I, para 519(b) the Compounder can only be discharged by the Chief Commandant's order. These two regulations are conflicting.

15 The Hospital servants must be made subordinate to discipline as they are attested men, and should be made to live in the Lines and attend --- regularly for duty. That the Medical Department -- should suffer by such action is to be regretted ; but it is no argument to prove that the Compounder should not be dealt with in accordance with the Military Regulations of discipline, however hard it may be on the Department to supply suitable men for the position.

16 The only method for the Medical Department to adopt is the most careful selection of men for the appointment ; men who are known in the Depart--ment to be likely to behave themselves properly and subordinate themselves to Military Regulations and discipline. By such careful selection on their part, the exceptional behaviour on the part of the subordinate, as instanced, is unlikely to be of frequent occurrance.

22 Compounders are liable to be discharged by order of the Chief Commandant under 519 (b) of Standing Orders and to even dismissal as a follower under Article 11 of the Military Regulation. But as compounders are generally taken from the Medical Department, the Chief Commandant may, for any misconduct on the part of such servants, discharge them from his department and for any offence of a serious nature which in his opinion merits the punishment of a dismissal, report the facts of the case to the Senior Surgeon. In case of disagreement, the matter should be referred to Government for orders.

23 Service Registers are maintained in the Department in which the officers concerned are working at the time. ~~[illegible]~~ In the circumstances it is not understood why leave applications were referred to the Medical Department instead of being disposed of by the Military Department.

24 As suggested by the Military Secretary, when requisitions for compounders are sent from the Military Department, men willing to subordinate themselves to the Military Regulation and discipline may be selected, so that occurrences of the kind in question may be minimized.

Med SC-148:1

Sir,

I have the honor to report to Government that one M. Anantharaj Pillay, permanent Compounder of the Imperial Service Lancers Hospital, was, on his application, received through the Chief Commandant, Mysore State Troops, granted six months' leave with effect from 5th April 1914 on account of ill health and one Anantharam Singh, a qualified candidate, was appointed to act in the place, in this office No. 5486-87 dated 16-6-1914.

2. Anantharaj had been granted only a month's privilege leave at first and when his application for an extension of leave was still under consideration, the Chief Commandant in his letter No. 4645 dated 19-5-1914, desired to know whether ~~one~~ Anantharam Singh could be appointed to act as Compounder temporarily, pending consideration of the recommendation made by the Medical Officer, for appointing the man as permanent Compounder. In reply he was informed in this office letter No. 5042 dated 21-5-1914, that Anantharam Singh could be temporarily appointed as Compounder till the return of the permanent incumbent to duty.

SUBJECT.

Requesting the favor of definite ruling in the matter of the Control of the Medical Subordinates of the Imperial Service Regimental Hospital, Bangalore —

3. On the 20th July 1914, the Medical Officer reported to this office that the services of the acting Compounder were dispensed with from that day by order of the Commandant, as the man could not be made to live in the Lines and as his attendance was irregular. On further enquiry I learn that the Compounder was discharged by the Commandant, pending final orders from the Chief Commandant in the matter and agreeably to para 519 (b) of the Standing Orders of the Regiment.

4. It is not for me to dispute the powers of the Commandant or the Chief Commandant to deal with the servants of the Regimental Hospital. But I cannot help representing to Government the inconvenience felt by this Department when called upon to supply substitutes in the place of hands discharged by the Military authorities. Unlike other hospital servants, Compounders require special training and are hard to get. Moreover, when questions relating to the appointment and leave of Compounders are referred to this Department, and questions relating to their punishment are disposed of independantly by the Military Department, ignoring this Department, the position of the latter is rendered rather awkward. I therefore submit the matter to Government for favour of a definite ruling on the point.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

D.C. Cunningham
